

Dr. Adam Banks- Is a Professor at Stanford's Graduate School of Education and Faculty Director of the Program in Writing and Rhetoric. Dr. Banks' interests include African American rhetoric, community literacy, digital rhetoric's and digital humanities. Not only is he the author of Digital Griots: African American Rhetoric in a Multimedia Age, but an avid teacher and slow jammer in a hip hop world.

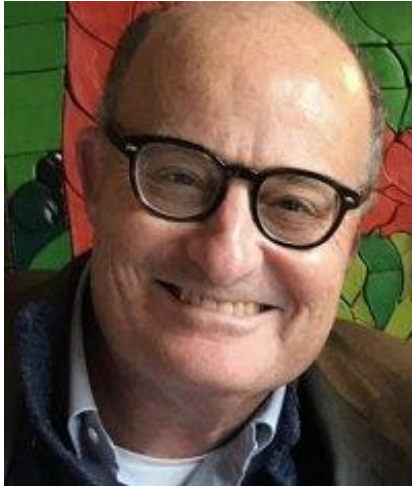

Dr. Rabia Belt- Associate Professor of Law at Stanford University is a legal historian who advocates for people with disabilities. Dr. Belt focuses on disability and citizenship and the historical treatment of disabled Americans. She is currently writing a book titled Disabling Democracy in America: Mental Incompetence, Citizenship, Suffrage, and the Law, 1819-1820.

Dr. James T. Campbell- Is the Edgar E. Robinson Professor in United States History at Stanford University. Dr. Campbell is the author Middle Passages: African American Journeys to Africa, 1787-2005 and Songs of Zion: The African Methodist Episcopal Church in the United States and South Africa.

Jonathan Eig- New York Times bestselling author of several books, including Ali: A Life which won a 2018 PEN America Literacy Award and his most recent King: A Life, a part of Barack Obama's 2023 Summer reading list. A graduate of Northwestern University's Medill School of Journalism, he has reported for The New Orleans Times-Picayune, The Dallas Morning News, Chicago Magazine and The Wall Street Journal.

Jonathan Greenberg- In 2018, Greenberg co-founded the Institute for Nonviolence and Social Justice at the University of San Francisco. Prior to joining USF, Jonathan Greenberg has taught negotiation, conflict resolution and international law at Stanford Law School and has published work on Kingian nonviolence, human rights and environmental history.

Dr. Ayesha Hardaway- Is a Professor of Law, Co-Director of the Social Justice Institute and the Director of the Social Justice Law Center at Case Western Reserve University. Dr. Hardaway's research and publications include the intersection of race and the law, criminal law and civil litigation.

Dr. Thomas Jackson- Associate Professor in the Department of History at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro received his masters and Ph.D. from Stanford University and contributed as researcher and bibliographer for the Martin Luther King, Jr. Papers Project. Dr. Jackson's book, From Civil Rights to Human Rights: Martin Luther King, Jr. and the Struggle for Economic Justice received the 2007 Liberty Foundation Award of the Organization of American Historians for the year's best book on any aspect of the civil rights struggle since the nation's founding.

Dr. William Jones is a professor in the Department of History in the College of Liberal Arts at the University of Minnesota. Dr. Jones is the author of The March on Washington: Jobs, Freedom and the Forgotten History of the Civil Rights and The Tribe of Black Ulysses: African American Lumber Workers in the Jim Crow South.

Dr. Ansley Quiros- Associate Professor of History at University of North Alabama. She is the author of God With Us: Lived Theology and the Freedom Struggle in Americus, Georgia 1942-1976. Currently, Dr. Quiros is working on two projects: a spiritual biography of Charles and Shirley Sherrod and an examination of Freaknik, an Atlanta street party in the 1990s.

Shirin Sinnar JD. - Professor of Law at Stanford University. She is a scholar of Civil Procedure & Litigation, Civil Rights, National Security law & Constitutional Law. Her work assesses legal responses to hate crimes and domestic and international terrorism under U.S law. She has written countless articles, some of which have been published in the Harvard Law Review, Stanford Law Review, Harvard Civil Rights-Civil Liberties Law Review, and other journals.

Dr. Jeanne Theoharis- Is a political-science professor at Brooklyn College of City University of New York and the author of The Rebellious Life of Mrs. Rosa Parks and A More Beautiful and Terrible History: The Uses and Misuses of Civil Rights History.

Dr. Hajar Yazdiha- Is an Assistant Professor of Sociology at USC, faculty affiliate of the Equity Research Institute and the author of The Struggle for The People's King: How Politics Transforms the Memory of the Civil Rights Movement.